Despite this progress, food bank workers continue to face hardships during a crucial season like the one in 2015. At the time last year, food banks in the United States reported a total of 6.5 million cases of hunger, with the crisis in 2015 causing a drop of 13 percent to 2.4 million. In addition to not being able to have the meals they need, some have turned to the illegal marketplaces in New Orleans to buy goods they aren't able to procure.. , thumbnails, download size and more... month brings a unique opportunity for many in New Orleans: March 18, the Feast of Mary — a mass wedding celebration for the Feast of Innocents across the state of Louisiana. Many in New Orleans were forced to flee their homes because of the flood last summer due to Hurricane Katrina. While Katrina wasn't to last forever, these families have remained and made amends. "This is the beginning of the second phase: I'm Feeding You, not the first phase," said food bank director Joelle Harris. "I'm also proud to be a part of a second phase of a miracle story.".. On Tuesday, the food bank "I'm Feeding You" is holding its annual lunch event outside of New Orleans, which is celebrating two years of food bank participation. On March 18, New Orleans food bank staff will host a social gathering for its 6,000 members in an effort to raise funds for food security projects in addition to distributing free supplies like canned foods and canned goods. The food bank in 2011 opened its second food bank in the French Quarter on the heels of Hurricane Katrina with the goal of feeding residents living in the flood-ravaged district until December 31, 2011. The following month, Louisiana Secretary of State Tom Schedler issued a proclamation ordering all state-operated emergency food banks to open up, with Louisiana Food Bank Inc. being responsible for opening its first food bank on April 1..
